Mr. Pontier conducted the committal services in the cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary E. Krom, who died at her home in High Falls Tuesday, will be held on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock with services in her home. Edmund Burke. At the services the children's choir, with Mrs. Frank Rafferty at the organ, sang the response and during the offertory they sang "O Eternity, After the blessing as the body was borne from the church they sang "Adoro Te." During the bereavement large numbers of her friends called at the funeral chapel to offer words of sympathy to the family and to pray for the repose of her soul. At 8 o'clock Wednesday evening the Rev. John D. Simmons called and led a very large group of friends in reciting the Holy Rosary for the happy repose of her soul. Many Mass cards and floral pieces were placed near the casket. Burial took place in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery where the Rev. Father Simmons gave the final absolution at the grave.

Boys Climb Home, Tired
Two boys who rowed and climbed home appeared in North Queen's ferry, Scotland, court for their pains. Alexander Harper, one of the lads, was fined $12 for his feat, even though his stunt won the court's admiration. The boys were forced to beach their boat on an island beneath the Forth Bridge. Then, in their anxiety to reach home, they climbed a 100-foot steel ladder and walked to the shore over a railroad bridge. The fine came because the boat was taken without permission and then used in a restricted area.

Waste Paper and Rags
Saturday, May 27, the collection of waste paper and rags will be continued in Wards 7, 8 and 9 by the Boy Scouts. Residents of these wards are urged to place at the curbs on Saturday morning all waste paper and old rags as every bit of this vital salvage material is needed to help win the war.

Fifth Army Has Merged Its Fronts

strength against the drive forward through Cassino and Formia. While the first land contact with the beachhead was established since Jan. 1, the communique made no mention of the condition of the Apennine Way across the Pontine marshes.

The speedy contact established by patrols across the area, however, indicated the probability communications were in reasonably good condition to provide an immediate supply route for the beachhead forces.

The contact was not made on the Apennine Way but on a secondary road hugging the shore. (Stockholm dispatches said a German high command spokesman did not hide the fact that the merging of the main and Anzio fronts was a big Allied success but quoted him as declaring "Rome will be defended."

Earlier German dispatches received in Stockholm said the Germans had opened the dykes, flooding the Pontine marshes, but if this was true it failed to hinder the fast meeting of troops.

(Both Pontecorvo and Piedmonte, two of the last remaining strongholds on the inland length of the Hitler line were reported evacuated by the Germans in Stockholm dispatches which quoted a German high command spokesman.)

Some of the most heroic fighting Allied troops have waged in this war took place on the beachhead where the Germans launched three major efforts to run it out.

At one point the fate of the 10-mile deep wedge hung in the balance and if the Germans had been able to give just one more push it might have been overrun, but the Americans and British held and endured the weeks and months when every inch of their territory was within range of German guns.

While the Americans on the beachhead plunged across the Apennine Way on both sides of Cassino, the main enemy stronghold which had ringed the beachhead base, the Germans were reported rushing reinforcements from the north of Italy to the northern and eastern sides of the peninsula for new counterattacks to slay the push on Rome.

Under personal command of Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark, they made gains up to three miles in the first day and a half of fighting after they broke the beachhead defense perimeter, and have taken 1,100 prisoners, raising well beyond 10,000 the total since the on-to-Rome offensive began.

Pontecorvo Is Occupied
In the Liri valley on the inland flank of the main front, Canadian troops occupied Pontecorvo, one of the final points of the original Hitler line, after its evacuation by the enemy. Eighth Army forces also virtually surrounded Piedmonte, above the Via Cassina, and pinned German troops to their defenses at Aquino.

Canadian armor, which yesterday reached the Melfa river after stabilizing through the Hitler line between Pontecorvo and Aquino, was mopping up German remnants in that advanced area.

The Anzio beachhead troops were squeezing Cassino from three sides. In addition, to gaining control of a large section of the Apennine Way, they cut the main Naples-Rome rail line in several places.

Headquarters said the Germans appeared to be massing in force at several points for heavy counterattacks against the beachhead forces. Allied armor supplied the report the Nazi command was moving troops from northern Italy toward the battle area, declaring they attacked "long columns of German reinforcements" north of Rome.

On the beachhead, British troops are attacking along the coastal area in the direction of the mouth of the Tiber simultaneously with the American surge across the Apennine Way. In tightening their grip on Cassino, the Americans occupied La Villa, a mile to the west. In that area the Germans marshalled a counter-attack led by 20 tanks, but nine were knocked out and the rest fled.

"More tanks are being employed in the beachhead battle than were used by the Fifth Army since the landing at Salerno, and the powerful armor, operating on more suitable terrain than the rugged southern front, has made one of the chief contributions to our success so far," a headquarters commentator said.

Allied fliers yesterday had their biggest day of the Italian campaign. Flying almost 3,000 sorties, they unleashed their great destructive power on enemy high way traffic, and destroyed or damaged more than 650 vehicles—some of them in the region between the beachhead and Terracina, and others carrying the German reinforcements from northern Italy.

Four-engine bombers hit targets in Austria, Yugoslavia and north Italy. Twenty of the heavy bombers and eleven other aircraft were missing. The Germans also stepped up their activity, and 80 enemy planes were counted over the battle area. Fifty-five Nazi aircraft were destroyed.

SWANCUTT RULED SANE

Dale Frazier, sits in his wheelchair outside the courtroom at Camp Anza, Calif., awaiting resumption of his courtmartial on charges of murdering four persons. ## Guttridge Will Retire From Water Job on June 1st

James Addison Guttridge of 19 Irving Place, Kingston, department engineer in charge of the watershed department, New York City Board of Water Supply, who retires on June 1 after service of nearly 40 years with New York City, most of that time in connection with its water supply projects, will be the guest of honor at a testimonial dinner to be given at the Wayside Inn, Ellenville, tonight.

Guests, expected to number about 120, will be officials of the department, associates and friends of Mr. Guttridge. Born in Boston, Mr. Guttridge graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, spent some years with a firm specializing in street railway construction, and then in 1904 went with the New York Rapid Transit Commission as an assistant engineer. A year or so later, at the commencement of the Catskill water supply project, he went with the Reservoir Department of the Board of Water Supply. He was connected with the work throughout the construction of the Ashokan dam and later was in charge during the construction of the Gilboa dam.

When the Delaware water project was started Mr. Guttridge came to the Kingston office of the Board of Water Supply. December 1, 1931, he succeeded George G. Honness, who retired, as department engineer in charge of the entire watershed department. Since November, 1937, when the Board of Water Supply office was moved to Ellenville for convenience of supervision of the work starting on the new project at Lackawack, Mr. Guttridge has had his headquarters at Ellenville, although maintaining his residence in Kingston.

170 Jamaicans Will Work in Ulster Expected to Arrive Next Week for Farm Jobs

County Agricultural Agent Albert Kurl said this morning that definite assurance had been received that 170 Jamaican farm laborers had been allotted to Ulster county. The men are to arrive some time next week and a representative of the War Food Administration is to be in Kingston on Friday to inspect housing arrangements for the laborers and to obtain contracts.

Rate of pay has not been set definitely, Mr. Kurl said, but probably will be 50 cents per hour, with no extra privileges except that transportation to and from the places where they are housed to be furnished. Most of the contingent will be employed by vegetable and sweet corn growers in the Rondout valley, and 150 of them will be housed at Camp Haydn near Kerhonkson, where last year's contingent of 134 men were housed. Ten others will be located at the Myron Hazen farm, Milton and 10 at the Townsend Velle farm, Marlborough.

It is hoped that altogether 4,500 of these Jamaican laborers will be available for work on New York state farms.

Cooperation Is Asked by Police On Memorial Day

Chief of Police Charles Phinney said this morning that with the cooperation of the public along the line of march that the big Memorial Day parade on Tuesday afternoon will be a success.

There will be no parking of automobiles along the line of march, said the police chief, and all traffic will be halted on those streets shortly before the parade is scheduled to start at 2 o'clock. Persons living in the city are requested to park their cars in the side streets. If they can conveniently do so they should leave their automobiles at home said Chief Phinney.

The parade forms at Pearl street and Clinton avenue, and proceeds down Albany avenue to Broadway, and down Broadway to Delaware avenue, where it will disband.

The parade will be in seven divisions.

back reported encountering a few German fighters. These were driven off swiftly by an escorting fleet of 500-700 Mustangs, Thunderbolts and Lightnings from the Eighth and Ninth U. S. Air Forces fighter commands.

Scores of squadrons of lighter bombers and fighters shuttled back and forth across the Channel in impressive swarms all day long. It appeared that the overall operations from Britain were fully on a scale with those of yesterday.

The German radio reported the Reich itself again was the goal of daylight raiders, warning of the approach of Allied planes over western Germany, then plotting their course over southern Germany, and finally announcing they were headed home. Specific objectives of the great armada, which carried the Allied offensive into its seventh straight day, were not immediately disclosed.

Aachen Is Chief Target

Main weight of the R.A.F.'s overnight attacks was concentrated on the transport center of Aachen, near the western border of Germany, and an engine assembly plant at Antwerp in Belgium. Hundreds of Lancasters and Halifaxes participated in these raids.

Meanwhile Berlin was hit by speedy H.A.F. Mosquitos, which gave the German capital its third drubbing in 24 hours.

The night blows also included attacks on military objectives in France and mine laying in enemy waters.

R.A.F. fliers said there was a dearth of searchlights inland but unprecedented hundreds of them near the coast, a hint that the Nazis may have massed great anti-aircraft preparations to oppose the air section of Allied landing attempts.

The Germans also put up great running night air battles and shot off a new type of star flares which burst into six pieces to light the aerial battleground.

An American communiqué today said bomb concentrations fell near Tempelhof airfield and in the vicinity of the Schlesischer railroad station in the raid on Berlin yesterday while the Rechlin-Lars airfield and other district of the capital were bombed with good effect.

In the stab at the Paris area the Melun, Orly, Creil and Poix airfields were also damaged, with most damage done at Orly and Melun.

77 German Planes Downed

A U. S. communiqué last night announced destruction of 77 German planes in yesterday's operations, most of them in air battles, as nearly 1,000 Flying Fortresses and an equal number of escorting fighters struck at the German capital.

The communiqué reported 32 bombers and 16 fighters missing from all the Wednesday daylight operations from Britain by the American Air Forces.

Military targets in and near three of Europe's capitals—Berlin, Paris and Vienna—formed the major objectives of yesterday's air offensive, history's greatest aerial assault against Europe. Flying from both Britain and Italy, the Allied bombers dropped more than 5,500 tons of explosives during the day.

German raiders flew over the southeast coast of Britain and East Anglia during the night, dropping bombs at one place. No damage or casualties were reported.

Okamoto Dies Today

Tule Lake, Calif., May 25 (AP)—Shochi James Okamoto, 32, American born Japanese, died today from a bullet fired yesterday by a military police sentry at the Tule Lake segregation center. The war relocation authority, in charge of the camp, said four blood transfusions were given the wounded man after Japanese and Caucasian surgeons had operated in hope of saving his life. Nearly 50 men stood ready at the center hospital during the night to give their blood in transfusions.

Dogs Are Promised

Washington, May 25 (AP)—Soldiers, sailors and marines blinded in warfare will have "seeing eye" dogs as life companions and helpers, if they decide it. ## KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 25, 1944

WALLACE AND CONFUCIUS

The average American, learning that Vice-President Henry Wallace is going to visit China, may be inclined to say, "What of it?" There is always more or less diplomatic travel. But China has played a very great role in human development, and even now she is capable of playing a large and honorable part in the modern world. Anyone who doubts this should read Theodore H. White's article in the May 1 number of Life magazine.

The great revolution of Asia, he says, is slowly coming to a climax in China. When the latter once gets this Japanese burden off its back, and gets the aid from America that it deserves and our own advantage calls for, there may be a great renaissance in that country.

The Japanese, as Mr. White points out, are insignificant in oriental history, compared with China. "Pinned up in their rocky islands with little culture or standards of their own, their present brief and terrifying role on the record of history is a fleeting phenomenon."

"The real power of the Orient resides in China. She is the nation that has given the East its civilization for more than 2,000 years, and will do so again. The Chinese people are possessed of an affection for America which is one of our greatest assets in foreign affairs. To keep the permanent friendship of this great nation almost any price is small."

BENITO'S FLAG

A recent dispatch from London gives an interesting account of the way Benito Mussolini spends his time in his exile. He has figured out a new flag for Italy, in which the old arms of the House of Savoy are replaced by a black eagle with open wings, "perched on a bundle" against a background of green, white and red with vertical stripes. The word "bundle" presumably means the "fascist" or rods used by the ancient Romans as an emblem of authority. Benito made literal use of such rods, in the cruel beatings he inflicted on Italians who refused to accept his crazy ideology. And he rather fancied himself, for a while, as an eagle in fearlessness and power.

It is probably a good thing now for Benny to play with his toys. They help to keep him out of mischief. Adolf Hitler, who copied Italian Fascism and gave it a German name, may likewise be playing with harmless toys before long.

RACIAL COOPERATION

War, with all its faults, seems to be a pretty good human equalizer. It has been observed by many American civilians that the white and colored troops seem to get along pretty well. Apparently no special efforts are made to mix them, but in the inevitable contacts of military life they probably get along better in this war than they ever did before in such close association. Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, has this to say about it:

"Our soldiers are forgetting, in the alchemy of war, the pigment of the skin. There is no race problem in a trench. These men of all races are sharing foxholes and standing together in line for 'chow.' There is no question there of color or creed."

There is little difficulty about the natural contacts and associations of military life. Their units get along well enough in the trenches, and their cooperation in air squadrons—where Negroes are doing excellent work—is described by Mr. White as "one of the finest examples of democracy he has ever witnessed."

VICTORIOUS PLANES

Former wars have been won mainly by destroying men. From the way this present warfare is developing, it seems as if wars from now on are likely to be won mainly by destroying airplanes. The armies with the most and the best planes and flyers will win.

How are we doing along this line? The reports so far are reassuring. General Henry H. Arnold at Washington reports that U. S. Army air forces so far have destroyed more than 20,000 enemy planes in all theaters of war, and damaged 12,000 more, while losing only 6,000 planes. The enemy, both in Europe and in Asia, has been much inferior in aerial strength and strategy.

There is no part of Germany, says General Arnold, which has not been assailed, and the sustained bomb offensive has not yet reached its peak. American air raiders ranging eastward on the Atlantic are meeting Russians heading westward, so that ocean is now well covered.

As for effectiveness in land objectives, and against enemy morale, the general points out that 33 German cities have been more completely destroyed than was Coventry in England, and 8,000,000 Germans have been made homeless. The material and moral effects of such warfare are expected to be showing ever more clearly.

Some optimists are saying there will be orchids for everybody after the war. But most people would rather have apple pie.

In Congress, as elsewhere, the fellows, who do the most talking generally do the least work.

Every day now is one day nearer retribution for Germany.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act) INFLAMMATION OF A VEIN

I have spoken before of the patient with stomach ulcer who thought that once operation was performed he would have no further trouble with his stomach. His physician pointed out that he was so nervous and emotional he might grow another ulcer.

It would appear that many patients believe that once their infected teeth or tonsils are removed, they will have no more rheumatism, no more back ache or sciatica. They are greatly disappointed when they find that for a time at least, they may have as much pain as ever. What they forget is that the infected teeth, tonsils, gums or sinuses have been manufacturing poisons for months or years and some of these poisons have set up trouble in other parts of the body—secondary infection. As some one has aptly said, the factory (infected teeth, tonsils, etc.) has closed down but there is still much manufactured goods (poisons) on the shelves (other parts of the body).

Dr. Otto Meyer, New York city, in Clinical Medicine states: "It is frequently overlooked that once a focus or place of infection has been established, the infection has a tendency to spread, first to surrounding tissues and second to parts of the body distant from the original place where infection started."

One of the crippling ailments for which a satisfactory cause has not been found is phlebitis—inflammation of a vein—in which there is discoloration of skin, swelling of the leg, and vein is felt as a hard knotty cord. Rest is usual treatment.

Dr. Meyer states that the poisons from infection in the body is the cause of phlebitis because the inner wall of the vein is in contact with these poisons as they are carried, not only to these poisons but also to the rest of the body. To remove all poisons from the blood, not only the original infection (teeth, tonsils, etc.) must be removed but infection located elsewhere also. Infected veins because of the sluggish flow of blood through them can often be the site or situation of a secondary infection. To hasten the removal of poisons from the veins, compression bandages are being used with good results.

One of the commonest places in which poisons from infection are found is in the large intestine. Keeping the intestine active is good treatment.

By JOHN SELBY

"America"—by Stephen Vincent Benet
In the winter of 1942 the Office of War Information suggested to Stephen Vincent Benet that he write a short history of the United States for translation into a number of languages. It was not to be a brief outline, based on dates, battles, and the successive inauguration of presidents, but the spiritual assay of a people.

Benet agreed, as he had a habit of doing when a request had anything to do with the war effort. The book was finished before his death in 1943, and because it was written to a specific prescription, it emerged quite different from the usual history. It reads, often like Walt Whitman's poetry translated into prose—something strange, for Benet was, as everybody knows, a poet in his own right.

There is hardly a date in the book. Benet begins with a kind of apostrophe to America which states what other peoples think we are, and what the author believed we are. Then he goes on to a recreation of the spirit which moved the early colonists, especially those at Plymouth and Jamestown. The Virginia colonists were adventurers, he says, but they found no gold. The Massachusetts colonists were family men who expected, some of them, to find farms for themselves, but who chiefly were concerned with the opportunity to worship according to rites that pleased them. By an accident of navigation, they landed outside the Virginia colony where their right to settle was secure; they therefore produced a compact for their own government. It was not perfect, but it was a beginning.

Benet traces the development of the American spirit through the centuries to the war we are fighting today. There are only 122 pages in the book, so that it must move swiftly, yet it is astonishing how much of the American legend it encompasses—the undebatable Washington, the moving Lincoln, crusaders like Bryan and Wilson. Freedom which first was based on a sacred right to move about in freedom, in our time, freedom based on a spiritual concept and world cooperation. An instinct has formed a nation.

Ernie Pyle's Column

A B-26 Base in England, May 25 (By wireless)—Sgt. Phil Scheier is a radio-gunner. That is, he operates the radio of his B-26 bomber when it needs operating, and when over enemy territory he switches to one of the plane's machine guns.

It's hard to think of Sergeant Scheier as a tough gunner. In fact it's hard to think of him as an enlisted man. He is what you would call the "officer type"—he would seem more natural with a major's leaves on his shoulders than a sergeant's stripes on his arms. But he doesn't feel that way about it.

"I'm the only satisfied soldier in the Army," he says. "I've found a home in the Army. I like what I'm doing, and I wouldn't trade my job for any other in the Army."

Not that he intends to stay in after the war. He's 28, but he intends to go to college as soon as he gets out of uniform. He has been a radio script writer for several years but he wants to go to Columbia School of Journalism and learn how to be a big fascinating newspaperman like me.

Sergeant Scheier's home is at 1039 Forest Ave., Richmond, Staten Island. Like the others he has a D.F.C. and an Air Medal with clusters.

"When I won a Boy Scout medal once they got out the band and had a big celebration," he says. "But when you get the D.F.C. you just sign a paper and a guy hands it to you as though it was nothing."

Later, when I mentioned that I would like to put that remark in the column, Sergeant Scheier laughed and said: "Oh, I just made that up. I never was a Boy Scout."

Sgt. Kenneth Brown, of Ellwood City, Pa., is one of two men in my barracks who have the Purple Heart. He was hit in the back and arm by flak several months ago. He is a good-natured guy, and he has the next war figured out.

He isn't going to go hide in a cave or in a desert island, as so many Indians threaten to do. He thinks he has a better way. The minute the war starts he's going to get a sandbag and start digging humps and valleys and drawing lines in the sand. He figures that will automatically make him a general and then he'll be all right.

Sgt. Kenneth Hackett used to work at the Martin plant near Baltimore, which makes these B-26 bombers. He is 31, and he had supposed that if he ever got

"At Century's Turn"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

The first electric trolley car to run in Kingston was over the Broadway Line in 1893, while the old Colonial Line ran its first cars a year later. In 1919, the Colonial Line was observing its 25th anniversary.

It is interesting to recall that in 1919 six men who had started work with the Colonial Line in 1894, were still active. They were Chester E. Roe, Edward H. Butler, Martin Joyce, John J. Feeney, Walter Flannery and Frank P. Boyle.

The first Colonial trolley car ran through the old subway in 1899. The subway is now no longer in existence. It ran under the West Shore railroad tracks, and the subway station was located about 50 feet from the railroad station toward Broadway.

Older readers will recall the rivalry that prevailed between the two trolley lines until they were absorbed into one trolley system, which in later years has been succeeded by the Kingston City Transportation Corp., with the present bus lines, that operate over the routes over which the old trolley cars traveled.

I recall that at one time while the Broadway elimination was receiving its usual discussion that it was suggested in the Common Council that all Broadway traffic use the old Colonial subway, but nothing ever came of the project.

And speaking of the Broadway elimination it was on March 27, 1912, that two models of the proposed Broadway crossing elimination were displayed in the council chambers in the city hall.

Each model was 7 1/2 feet in length and were constructed to a

Today in Washington

Biddle's View of His Job Is Unusual — That of Adviser to President Roosevelt
By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 25—Attorney-General Biddle's conception of his duties as attorney-general—namely to advise the President and let the courts or Congress correct his actions—is rather novel.

Hitherto, the attorney-general, as chief legal adviser of the President, has endeavored to construe the law on the basis of precedents. He has tried to tell what the law is, and not what he would like it to be or what it should be.

Under the present administration, however, which believes in a government of men rather than of laws, the attorney-general becomes a political tool of the President. He renders so-called legal opinions, which are merely the policy justifications for administrative decrees.

The Department of Justice, therefore, may no longer be looked upon as the agency that attempts to construe the law as between the citizen and his government.

This is most unfortunate, since for many years the conception has prevailed in American history that while the Department of Justice would prosecute law offenders, it would not endeavor to stretch the law to enable the administration to carry out its political programs. There is a significant episode in which an assistant attorney-general figured in the last few years. A certain opinion was requested by the White House, and it was rendered by the assistant attorney-general in question. The word came back to him from an associate in this effect: "That may be a good legal opinion, but that is not what the President wants."

When Mr. Biddle testified before the House committee investigating the seizure of the Monticomey Ward property, he said that he did not trust the U. S. marshals to preserve order and carry out the terms of the seizure order, and hence he called in the army. This is a rather strange state of affairs, because the U. S. marshals are appointive officers under the federal government.

Whenever the U. S. marshals are not able to execute a law, a request is usually made to the secretary of war, but in this instance apparently the attorney-general ordered the troop on the spot.

There is no record either that the U. S. marshals in the Ward case have been removed because of their alleged incapacity.

If the attorney-general, on his own initiative, decide that the U. S. marshals in any district of this country are not qualified to execute the civil laws, and if he can call in the army at any time simply because he himself does not feel confidence in the marshals, then an entirely new situation has been uncovered which is wholly inconsistent with customary practice in the operation of civil law.

Too many people, including the attorney-general, apparently believe that the President, as commander-in-chief of the army and navy, is in reality a dictator. While the Constitution vests the power over the army and navy in the President, it does not vest in him any rights over the civilian economy which are not delegated by Congress. All laws giving what are known as "war powers" are specific in nature and delegate to the President what he may or may not do under those "war powers."

There is no basis for the theory so often advanced by people unfamiliar with constitutional practice, that during time of war the President is supreme because he happens to hold the title of "commander-in-chief of the army and navy."

There is, of course, no such thing in the Constitution as a "commander-in-chief of the army and navy," and it applies to peacetime as well as wartime. The only war powers which the commander-in-chief acquires during wartime are those which are delegated to him by Congress in connection with the actual conduct of the war. This is all written out in the law books on constitutional practice.

Much will be heard about the title "commander-in-chief" during the coming campaign. Already there are many people who insist that they must "stand by" Mr. Roosevelt because he is "commander-in-chief of the army and navy." There is no such political office as "commander-in-chief." If Mr. Roosevelt is nominated for a fourth term, he will run for a civilian office and not a military office, and he will acquire the powers of commander-in-chief again unless he is elected to the presidency next time.

America could operate as a military dictatorship if the people wished it, but they must say so through their Congress. The exercise of dictatorial powers of any other basis is a usurpation of power.

The statement that the Department of Justice takes a chance on the law and walks on the courts or Congress to correct its arbitrary action is an amazing one and merely serves to emphasize the fact that public officials may violate the law with impunity whereas a citizen who violates the law must pay the full penalty prescribed by the law itself.

scale of one inch for every ten feet.

One model showed how Broadway and the railroad would appear if the plan to carry Broadway under the railroad tracks was adopted.

The other model showed the viaduct plan, and how Broadway would appear after the elimination of that plan was adopted.

As I remember it these two models were later displayed in store windows in the business sections of the city.

What finally became of the models I have forgotten. William C. DeWitt, now the city historian, on March 20, 1919, received his official appointment as postmaster of Kingston. Prior to the official appointment he had been serving as acting postmaster of the city.

Los Angeles Demands Little Tokyo Cleanup

Los Angeles, May 25 (AP)—Mayor Fletcher Bowron and city health officials, descending in a surprise move on the Little Tokyo section of downtown Los Angeles, have posted vacate and clean-up notices on many of the ramshackle dwellings now jammed with an estimated 79,800 workers where only 30,000 Japanese lived before the war. More than 57 homes, declared unfit for human habitation, were ordered vacated and 125 others were ordered repaired. Thousands of negro families attracted from the South, Middle West and East to Southern California's war plants are living in the area, many of them crowded in store fronts, shacks and other makeshift living places, health officials declared. City officials said that other housing facilities are being arranged for the approximately 250 persons who will be forced to leave the area. "The situation in Little Tokyo is almost beyond description," stated Mayor Bowron. "Deplorable overcrowding of as many as 16 adults and children in one room, and extremely serious disease hazards are among the conditions which must be wiped out."

W.P.B. Forms New Unit to Control Postwar Planning

Washington, May 25 (AP)—The War Production Board has taken a major step toward planning for "X-Day"—the day when Germany capitulates—by forming a new inter-agency board to be called the Production Planning and Adjustment Committee. Organization of the group, headed by Executive Vice Chairman Charles E. Wilson, is not complete. Official sources said its aim is to handle the problem of arms production cutbacks by planning the military or civilian uses to which the freed plants, labor and materials can be devoted when war contracts are terminated.

The committee also will seek to obtain from the Army, Navy and Maritime Commission advance information on proposed arms curtailments. Working with this data, the group will advise those agencies on which plants could best suffer the contract cancellations, from the standpoint of prompt reconversion to civilian good or other military work, and the rapid absorption of the displaced workers.

Wilson has estimated that 35 per cent of the plant capacity now devoted to war goods will be freed for civilian output when either of the major enemies, Germany or Japan, collapses.

The problem was highlighted this week by the Navy's cancellation on Monday of the Brewster aeronautical corporation's contract to build Corsair fighter planes, with production to halt by July 1.

Southernaires Have Four Noted Voices

The Southernaires who will be heard June 1, at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium under the auspices of Franklin Street A. M. E. Zion Church, have sung together as a group so notably they are seldom thought of individually. Behind these four famous voices, however, are four distinctly different personalities.

Top tenor, Ray Yeates, has only recently added his lyric interpretations to the group. Yeates hails from among farm folk in Hart County, N. C. He inherited his father's marked musical instinct and at an early age was taught the negro spirituals. At Hampton Institute, Va., he studied voice and played in the band under the direction of William O. Tesmond.

At Hampton, Yeates participated in every musical activity possible. He has appeared with the Dixie Jubilee Singers under the direction of Eva Jesse in motion pictures and radio. He was the duck singer in the Theatre Union production of "Stevedore" and played in the motion picture, "Jezebel" starring Miriam Hopkins as well as in the production of "Porgy and Bess" and with Paul Robeson in "John Henry."

Lowell Peters, second tenor, was born in Cleveland, Tenn., one of eleven children. His earliest ambition was to be a lawyer and with this in mind he went to Knoxville College. Like Ray Yeates, he was a member of the college quartet for four years. On being graduated he went to New York where he made his professional debut with the Hall Johnson Choir. His hobbies are reading and the study of languages.

Jay Stone Toney, baritone, was born in Columbia, Tenn., where he attended high school and worked as window decorator. He sang in social church choirs, but did not become a professional singer until he became a member of The Southernaires. It is Toney who assumes the responsibility for taking care of the tremendous fan mail that the group constantly receives. The type of singing done by this ensemble seems to prompt many radio listeners to write letters unburdening their troubles.

William Edmonson, bass, comes from the Pacific Coast, born in Spokane, Wash. He attended Spokane College where he played on the football and baseball teams and organized the college's first glee club. Following graduation he studied voice for two years at Chicago Musical College. Edmonson did his first public singing at the age of seven as boy soprano at All Saint's Church in Spokane. His adult career began with the Garner Concert Company and the Lafayette Players, a dramatic stock company. He also appeared on the Chautauqua and Lyceum circuits. Later he played the lead in three Negro motion pictures and has sung in several musical comedies on Broadway.

No story of The Southernaires would be complete without mention of their accompanist and arranger, Spencer Odum. Born in Chicago, Odum attended grammar and high school there. He began studying the piano at the age of five and gave his first concert when thirteen. He was only fourteen when he was selected as Chicago's representative to a convention of the National Association of Negro Musicians, held in Indianapolis. With the idea of teaching music he entered Crane College but soon decided teaching was not his forte and left school to become pianist and arranger for a dance orchestra. Odum has acted as accompanist for a number of soloists and vocal groups. He coached and arranged music for the popular Chicago radio attraction, "The Vagabonds" before joining The Southernaires. He has composed many songs and written the musical scores of several theatrical productions.

Tickets for the concert are on sale at McPherson Drug Store, 634 Broadway; Dixon's Dress Shop, 295 Wall Street; Art's Bar and Grill, 5 Canal Street. Members of the committee arranging for the concert include Raymond Crispell, Mrs. Walter Brown, Mrs. Glad Sampson, Debra Dineen, Edward McKinnon, Miss Sally Brown, Mrs. Robert Hardin, Miss June E. Van Der Zee, Lorenzo Bowyer, Miss Christine Robinson and Theron B. Moore.

The change from spin to rayon is substantial compared with that given a couple to a musical.

Sgt. Irving Izzo Weds Puerto Rican Girl

The wedding of Miss Amalia Arana, daughter of Mrs. Arturo Arana of Santurce, Puerto Rico, to Staff Sgt. Irving V. Izzo, son of Lucy Regioir, 18 Foxhall avenue, took place last evening, 7 o'clock at St. Mary's Church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Benjamin C. Roth.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Joseph Arana, a senior second class, who was granted special leave from his training at the Sampson Naval Training Station. She wore a moire silk gown made with fitted bodice full skirt on train. Her finger-ring tiara veil was caught with a tiara of beaded orange blossoms and she carried white roses. Mrs. Paul Haines, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. She wore a lavender flowered silk jersey gown with yellow accessories. Mr. Haines was best man for his brother-in-law. Their daughter, Miss Rosalie Haines, a junior senior, wore a blue silk dress and yellow bonnet tied with blue ribbons.

Mrs. Izzo is a graduate of the Santurce Central High School where she majored in the commercial course. She was employed by the Navy Department at the San Juan Naval Air Station, Puerto Rico, prior to coming to this country in December to be married. Because of traveling difficulties she arrived a half hour after Sergeant Izzo was obliged to return to his post. She remained here until he was able to obtain this furlough.

Sergeant Izzo attended Kingston High School and has been in service about four years. For two and a half years he was stationed in Puerto Rico, and is now with an anti-aircraft unit at Fort Bliss, Tex.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for members of the family at The Barn, Sergeant and Mrs. Izzo will spend a few days at the Stuyvesant Hotel before his return to Fort Bliss. Mrs. Izzo will reside with the bridegroom's mother.

The War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

It's mighty risky to assume that your enemy is beaten while the still has the will and the strength to offer resistance, and this is particularly true of the German soldier, but with this caution in mind we are justified in weighing the fact that Nazi Field Marshal Kesselring's armies in Marshal Italy are in grave danger of wholesale disaster.

Kesselring's position was grim yesterday, but fast moving events are crowding him into a corner. One of the most significant developments is the Berlin announcement that the Germans have evacuated the coast between the erupting Allied Anzio beachhead and the main battle-line to the southeast.

This withdrawal was made in an effort to escape being caught in the vice which has been created by the two Allied offensives. It's a further demonstration not only of the terrific striking power of the Allies, but of superb Allied cooperation. It speaks well for Allied prospects in the great invasions which are to come.

The brilliant work of the Canadians in the Liri Valley and their American comrades at Terracina represented grand coordination. The American feat of capturing Terracina was of vast assistance in relieving pressure on the Canadians as they drove straight into Nazi strength.

The Germans are defending the Liri Valley fiercely because here is level ground among the mountains, and they are terrified of Allied tanks getting into action against them there. That's a contingency for which we should watch.

Kesselring urgently requires reinforcements, but there's no indication that there are any upon which he can call in this hour of deepest need. The German strength is stretched to its limit throughout Italy.

There are in Italy 25 German divisions. Twelve of these are said to be holding the line between the Adriatic and the west coast, and five are at the Anzio beachhead—a total of 17. Six other divisions are reported to be in the far north, tied down by Italian partisans. The other two probably are guarding the Isthmian border opposite Trieste.

The 17 divisions upon which Kesselring's fate hangs normally might total some 250,000 men. However, at least seven of these divisions have had heavy losses, so that the armies probably are far below quota.

Cancer Clinic for Kingston Favored By Dr. Derrick

Dr. W. Ansel Derrick, pathologist and director of the Kingston Laboratory, expressed his desire of seeing established in Kingston a cancer clinic to serve the people of Kingston and Ulster county and surrounding territory at the Rotary luncheon-meeting held Wednesday. B. C. Van Ingen, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker.

In answer to questions, he stated that sufficient space for a clinic, a consultant and modern X-ray equipment would be required for its establishment. Personnel equal to that of any other clinic could be obtained, he asserted, and a clinic here would obviate the necessity of people from this area going long distances to other centers.

He felt certain that a cancer clinic would be established here in time. Because of its great benefit to the public, he would continue to support the movement for a clinic.

In the brief time allotted, Dr. Derrick outlined the growth of the laboratory as to its scope, physical equipment and operations. He also described the blood and plasma banks, general and surgical pathology, autopsies and post-mortem examinations.

Lemons from Sicily have reached London for the first time during the war.

Kingston Hospital Auxiliary Hears of Maternal Health Center

The Auxiliary of Kingston Hospital met at the Nurses' Home Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Elizabeth Moore, prominent member of the hospital staff spoke on the work of the Ulster County Maternal Health Center for Planned Parenthood. She told of the work done since the time the center was opened nearly four years ago.

Mrs. R. Frederic Chidsey, president, reported on the recent meeting of the executive board of the auxiliary held last Wednesday morning at the home of Mrs. Mortimer Downer and of the recommendations brought before the board of managers Wednesday afternoon. The members voted to continue laying the line-tile in several rooms in the hospital. Upon the suggestion of Mrs. Frederic Chidsey, the members voted to hold a vase donation day and a sewing day. The hospital needs vases for short stemmed flowers and each auxiliary member is asked to donate at least one. On the same day, the members will sew cushions and covers for all the food stools in the hospital.

The Curtis Publishing Co. is again soliciting magazine subscriptions in Kingston for the auxiliary.

As the annual election takes place at the September meeting, Mrs. Parker K. Brinnier, Mrs. Burton Haver and Mrs. Eugene Pemberton were appointed as the nominating committee. The hostesses for the September meeting will be Mrs. Arthur Quimby, Mrs. Edwin Shumate and Mrs. Viola Babcock.

This was the last meeting until fall. The meeting closed with a social hour around the tea table with Mrs. Roy Sathoff pouring. The hostesses for the day were Mrs. Leonard Flicker, Mrs. Lester Sanford and Mrs. Harold Wilson.

Business Girls Hear Conference Reports and Make Plans

The Business Girls Club had a panel discussion on the Atlantic City Regional Y.W.C.A. Conference, Wednesday, Miss Sadie Gregory was in charge of the discussion and introduced the delegates. Miss Alberta Davis spoke last of the conference and the evening situation. Next, Mrs. Thomas Reynolds spoke on "Shall We Choose Scarcity or Plenty in the Postwar World." This discussion group was held by Dr. Helen Meikeljohn. Mrs. Mackinnon reviewed Vera Michels Dean's discussion on "America Faces the Future." Elma Smith followed this by a summary of Myra Smith's discussion on Inter-racial Practices in the Y.W.C.A. Mrs. Richard Howland followed, telling of her new insights into the meaning of Y.W.C.A. membership. To close the discussion Miss Gregory summed up the topic of "Our Moral Responsibility" which was Winifred Wygal's discussion group.

Vice Admiral Fitch Takes Over Post Held by McCain

Washington, May 25 (AP)—Vice Admiral Aubrey W. Fitch is the navy's choice for the post of deputy chief of naval operations for air. The man who recently returned from the South Pacific where he commanded air forces which Navy Secretary James V. Forrestal said "drove the Japanese out of the air," succeeds Vice Admiral William S. McCain, whose new post was not disclosed. Meanwhile there were reports today of two other changes in navy personnel.

Forrestal, asked whether a new assignment for Admiral William F. Halsey, Jr., aggressive navy commander of the South Pacific area, had been decided upon, said he could not comment but added: "You can take it for granted that Admiral Halsey will not become an emeritus character."

And other sources disclosed that Charles S. Thomas, an expert in procurement and purchasing control methods who has played a large part in expediting the purchase of naval materials and supplies, may become undersecretary of the navy, the post held by Forrestal before he succeeded the late Secretary Knox.

Ernest Hemingway Hurt In London Auto Crash

London, May 25 (AP)—Ernest Hemingway, widely-known American writer, suffered head injuries in an automobile accident here last night but after a minor operation hospital authorities said today he was in no apparent danger.

A surgeon at St. George's Hospital found upon cleaning and stitching a head wound that there was no fracture and that outside of the head injuries Hemingway was unhurt.

Hemingway, who arrived in London about a week ago as a correspondent for Collier's magazine, was hurt when the car in which he was riding with a British physician struck a statue.

The bearded writer's wife, Martha Gellhorn, also of Collier's staff, was expected to arrive in Britain shortly from the Mediterranean theatre.

Williamson Gives Back $4,663 Fee For Legal Services

Albany, N. Y., May 25 (AP)—Return to the state of a $4,663 legal fee paid State Senator Elmer W.
Williamson for aiding in litigation over reapportionment is termed by Special Prosecutor Ilham C. Todd a "by-product" of the legislative spending investigation ordered by Governor Devey.

Williamson, Westchester County Republican, whose return of the fee to Senate Clerk William S.
King disclosed yesterday, was quoted in New York as saying there was "no impropriety" in accepting the money.

Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley, then Republican majority leader of the Senate engaged Williamson last summer to represent the Senate before the Court of Appeals in defending the constitutionality of the Re-Apportionment Law. Passed at the 1943 legislative session, the law was upheld.

Todd, conducting the spending investigation, said yesterday the transaction leading to the payment of the fee, which came from the Senate's Contingent Fund,
"has been the subject of inquiry."

Williamson was quoted by a New York newspaper as saying the only question could be one of the constitutional right of an official to accept a fee not connected with his regular duties.

He was also quoted as saying he had been retained by Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein at the request of Hanley. Williamson denied this in a statement issued last night at White Plains, where he was unanimously ordered for re-election by Westchester county Republican leaders.

Goldstein also issued a statement in which he said he had not retained Williamson.

Great Lakes Sailors' Team Has 17 Majors on Its Roster

Great Lakes, Ill., May 25 (AP)—

There's no room for another major league baseball team and naval rules forbid, but many experts and fans are of the opinion that a 17th big time squad is operating this season—at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center.

Most of the 22 young sailors at the world's biggest naval station on the bluejacket roster wouldn't be strangers in major league uniforms—for 17 of them were playing in the National and American League last season. The remaining five were on top minor league clubs in 1943.

For the third successive year, Lieut. Mickey Cochrane has fielded an entirely new team. Many baseball experts agree this season's squad isn't going to be pushed around by any opposition, including big league clubs.

The bluejackets have won their first six games, including victories over the Philadelphia Phillies and the Boston Red Sox.

The bluejackets in 1943 won 52 of their 63 games but only 32 contests are scheduled this season, including eleven against big league teams.

Cochrane, whose American League career included managing Detroit, has an infield composed of former National Leaguers—Johnny McCarthy, Boston, first; Billy Herman, Brooklyn, second; Merrill May, Phillies, third, and Al Glosso, Dodgers, shortstop.

Outfielders are Gene Wooding, Cleveland; Dick West, Cincinnati; and Mizell Platt, Chicago Cubs.

With Schoolboy Rowe, who pitched in both big leagues, available for outfield as well as pitching assignments. Other ex-major league hurlers are Virgil Trucks, Detroit; Junior Thompson, Cincinnati; Bill Brandt and Bob Klinger, Pittsburgh; Si Johnson, Phillies; and Ed Welland, Chicago White Sox.

Catchers from the big time are Clyde McCullough, Cubs; Bill Baker, Pirates and Joe Glenn, New York Yankees.

Food for Million Lost
Food for one million pigs has been lost because British brewers have dumped tons of surplus yeast down drains during the past four years, London food experts declare. The experts are seeking to interest the government in converting the waste yeast into animal feed. ## SCOREBOARD

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

Connie Mack still rates as the diamond's No. 1 "David Harum" today on the performance of Frankie Hayes, who was "tabbed" "all washed up" when he hit only .388 for the St. Louis Browns in 1943.

Hayes' second bases-loaded homer of the season was the telling wallop as the Philadelphia A's took over fourth place yesterday with an 8-4 decision over Detroit.

It was the sixth circuit clout for the veteran catcher, who is tied for the American League lead with Cleveland's Pat Seerey.

Only three nicks have hit "grand slam" homers in 1944 but Hayes has done it twice. His clout off Rube Gentry won another game from the Tigers 10 days ago.

Jimmie Lindell of the Yankees and Howie Schultz of Brooklyn also hit one in the stands with the sacks packed. The record for a season is four, held jointly by Frankie Schulte, Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Rudy York.

Mack brought Hayes back to Philadelphia in January after an absence of a year and a half by shifting Pitcher Sam Zolaski, Outfielder Barney Lutz and a "small amount of cash" in the Browns.

Hayes is completely satisfied to be back at Shibe Park, is battling clean up and has driven in 19 runs although his average is not among the leaders.

Jack Kramer climbed into the six-win class as the St. Louis Browns trimmed Boston, 7-3, and moved into second place in a night game, Rubeleer Eumett O'Neil helped the Browns along with a wild spell during which he passed four men in a row and wild pitched two home with a heave that landed in the grandstand.

Superb control and effective clutch hurling by Dutch Leonard helped Washington level Cleveland, 5-4, with an 11-hit attack on three Tribe hurlers.

Pittsburgh's Rip Sewall pounded out two doubles taming Boston three runs while taming Boston with six hits for an 8-1 decision. The first time the no-hit hurler has been beaten by his old mates since September 27, 1942.

Paul Erickson made his first start, a neat five-hit shutout as Chicago blanked the Phillies, 2-0, last night.

The Cincinnati-New York and St. Louis-Brooklyn games in the National and New York at Chicago 11th in the American were postponed on account of rain.

The mercury thermometer was invented in 1714 by Gabriel Daniel Fahrenheit.

Loyang Is Captured

(By The Associated Press)

The Berlin radio quoted dispatches from Tokyo today as saying that Japanese troops had captured the ancient city of Loyang in northern Honan Province after penetrating the Chinese lines in fierce fighting yesterday.

The report was not immediately confirmed by the Chinese, who declared in a communique late yesterday that Loyang was still in their hands.

The Chinese high command said the Japanese were attacking from all directions, however, and reported that a bitter battle was raging. Some time after the Berlin broadcast reporting Loyang's fall was recorded in New York, an Associated Press dispatch from London quoted a Tokyo broadcast as having heard that as saying Loyang had been completely encircled and its fall was expected within a few days.
